

March 2020 Newsletter Marching into Action

Chiropractic is a vastly evolving profession. There are movements within the profession for interested chiropractors to become specialized in neuromusculoskeletal medicine, to have more access and benefits for Medicare recipients with HR 3654, and to balance the doctors in the profession who choose to only be responsible for subluxation complex management. There are many ways that you can get involved to start shaping the profession's global outlook in the medical community. The ACA actively educates its members on the legislative and political climate in Washington, D.C. as it impacts the chiropractic profession, and communicates regular updates on legislation, like H.R. 3654. Becoming a member of the CFS is a big step in helping the public view of the profession.

The CFS executive members are working hard to bring more value and education to our members. President of our council, Mike Mathesie attended the ACA Engage 2020 conference this January and helped advocate for the profession on Capitol Hill during the ACA Hill Day. During our convention in October with the ACCC and West Hartford Group (WHG), we encourage anyone wanting to help get involved in the profession to attend, learn how to get involved, and invite a colleague or two to see what the best continuing education in our profession looks like. Without numbers, we are a small voice to be heard. We challenge everyone to bring a colleague this year to the conference to learn more about how the CFS can help shape the view of Chiropractic in the United States.

Which Representative Should You Contact?

When was the last time you wrote a letter to your state or federal representative(s) to help promote Chiropractic in your state or in the US at large? Intimidated by the process? Reach out to us at the CFS and we will help lead you in the right direction. The ACA is a great resource for anyone who wants to support chiropractic and H.R. 3654 (www.HR3654.org) by contacting their Member(s) of Congress. Not sure who your federal representatives are?
